How To Sue A Telemarketer

Synopsis

A tongue and cheek manual on how to sue a telemarketer. We have all been bothered by telemarketers in the privacy of our homes. This is a humorous "How To" response guide to turn the tables on this irritating intrusion in our lives. Whether you decide to sue the telemarketer's ass in court or bust his balls, the manual will delightfully inform you of your rights and guide your way to create peace in your home one telephone call at a time.

If you want to get off your duff and be pro-active in going after telemarketers, I recommend this book. It's easy to read and makes a good starting point to get going. You need to be aware that some of the information given is outdated and in a couple instances, incorrect. So when you begin your suit against a company, be sure to double check the statutes that you are using. Thanks to this book, I currently have four cases started against telemarketers. Now. Go get em!!!

This book should be provided in high school, as once you get your first phone, you're going to get hit with telemarketers. While I've never gotten an opportunity to actually take a telemarketer to court(yet), just using some of these tactics really drives them away, permanently. After it becomes clear that you're aware of the law in your particular area, your phone is no longer valuable, and the number of telemarketers who will decide to continue pestering you will shrivel to nothing.

A very useful resource if you intend to make these DNC violators re-think the economics of their practices.

This information should be used by everyone! The only way to stop telemarketers from calling is if everyone starts to fight back and sue them, as is the law!

I've not read the entire book - yet - but I am positively salivating at the prospect of nailing these punks. For the last few years I've kept a color-coded spreadsheet of TM/spam calls that now is nearing a THOUSAND. I know who the "frequent-flyers" are and how often they've bothered us. All I can say is, they have NO IDEA the lengths to which I will go to put an end to this harassment. And if I can profit from the ordeal, so much the better. (I'm WAY overdue for a dream vacation in Hawaii...) I'm told the phone companies can't (won't) stop these calls because they are governed by the public utilities commission which requires them to put through ALL calls. (What I think of that nonsense is unprintable.) When I prevail, AND I WILL, you'll see me on the 6 o'clock news.

Entertaining but new wrinkles: 1) Caller ID reads "BLOCKED CALL". 2) A local number appears but there is no answer when I return the call to check if real ("spoofing"). 3) Caller ID shows area code 525. THAT IS FROM MEXICO CITY - Frequently used by crooks. Steve Ostrow says that a successful lawsuit depends upon having obtained the Name of the Company and the Phone Number. My phone company has NO suggestions. Guess we're just SOL for now.

Wish you could include surveys and political calls.

What great info!! I dove head first into going after Telemarketers 4 months ago after getting fed up with their blatant violations of the TCPA. I was getting up to 4 telemarketing calls a day. I bought this book, followed the steps, used my Google-foo on some of the questions I had and BAM! In 4 months I have an extra five figures in my pocket (That's not a typo) and now I get MAYBE 3 calls a week. The TCPA was set up as a way for us common folk to pursue these telemarketers in small claims. That's why calling the FCC and complaining never works. YOU have the power to make these calls stop and if they don't, just go after them civilly and cash your checks. The formula in this book works folks!
