Justine Fontes was born in New York City and grew up on Long Island. She graduated with a BA in English literature from New York University. While at university, she went into publishing and has worked at various publishing houses before becoming a freelance writer of children's books. She met her husband, Ron Fontes, while working with Little Golden Books, and they frequently write together. Ron Fontes has been an actor, advertising executive, art director, and standup comic. He is now happily an author of children's books and has published more than 500 with his wife, Justine Fontes. Keiko Motoyama is an illustrator of books for young readers. Her works include Hairy Henry; Bears, Bears, Everywhere; and How the Turtle Got Its Shell.

Such a cute story! I am so glad I bought this book as a gift for my cousins daughter! I only wish I had bought myself one instead! Well written, with a great illustrations!

So sweet. My grandson loves it.

Great book for kids !!

a cute book.

I have twin 3 year old Granddaughters & they LOVE Turtles & they will LOVE me reading this to them.

This is a quick read, but my boys found it interesting. Illustrations are nicely drawn and colorful. A good quality book with interesting stories.

We have read this every night to our now 20 month old son since his birth and we love it

Cute and educational!
