Customer Reviews

This book has everything in it you would need to make crafts including a chapter on how to set up your craft room. There are 300 crafts from which to choose and range from knitting and crochet to painting to wood crafts, candle making and more. My grandson enjoyed making the twig frame for Daddy for Father's Day and we are in the process of making a rain stick for him. I can't wait to make the wire ring out of a shank button (I collect buttons) and trying my hand at making the herb lemon soap or pumpkin pie soap for in the fall. This book tells you how to make every conceivable type of clay and then gives you how to use it. There are craft instructions using buttons, washi and duct tape, paint, wood, candles, potpourri, scrubs for the face and body, jewelry and patterns for practical knitted and crochet items. There are patterns for making things from fabric and so many scrapbook ideas I don't know where to start. This book is great for either a beginner or seasoned crafter.

I am a beginner when it comes to crafting, therefore I was looking for a book which would give me a range of things to make, but was explained in a way that is easy to understand. The book covers 300 crafts including the materials you need and then great step by step instructions but there is also a chapter that is dedicated purely to how you can set up your own personal crafting room, which is a really good idea if you have the space as you can then have everything in one place. The first project I tried was pallet wall hanging which is a rustic type of folk art and was ideal for me as a beginner because it doesn't matter if everything is perfectly straight. However, I did find it challenging painting the structure as the wood was rough and untreated, but I persevered and was very proud of my efforts. I think the funniest thing was my husband asking me which curio shop I had brought the picture from, you should have seen his face when he realized I had made it myself! Since then I have made rustic art as presents for friends but currently I am hooked on making soap and body scrubs as there is nothing more satisfying than being able to use something knowing exactly what it is made from and having the peace of mind that there are no added chemicals. In the next school holidays, I have promised my children that we can do some crafting together and even make a lovely homemade gift for their nanna and grandpa when they next come to visit. Personally, I would forget calling this book "Crafting: The Top 300 Best Crafts: Fun and Easy Crafting Ideas, Patterns, Hobbies, Jewelry and More For You, Family, Friends and Holidays" (Have Fun Crafting ... Woodworking Painting Guide Book 1) as I call this my crafting bible!

This crafting book is a great resource to ensure that we all take advantage of our crafting tools. For example, the book shows many ways of getting the most out of the least amount of materials. It also shows you how to maintain a craft area and create professional-looking items without buying expensive materials. This is a great crafting book for the arts & crafts lover.

"Crafting" by Susan Hollister is a very inspirational book full of many ideas. I love variety of crafting style and pattern. My favourite is picture frame that can be hanging, so it is nice to decorate them as you wish using ribbons, fabrics, buttons or crochet. I also admire colourful wall hangings like Eye of God made from yarn in bright colours. I am also big fan of knitting so I like tips and links how to improve your skills. Also very important for me is homemade jewellery like seashell pendant or painted stones that you can wear or just hanging on the wall. Susan reminds me about my favourite activities when I was a child like preparing scrapbooks with my secrets and pictures. I enjoy "Crafting" and can recommend it to everyone who is looking for new hobby.

There are so many great craft ideas in here, you won't be bored for hours. Whether you make the crafts to sell or just to do with the kids, there are so many options in the book that they are nearly endless. If you have kids, this will help keep them busy during the summer months when they are off from school. I would recommend this book to everyone!

When I read each type of item that is being made I enjoy the time and effort given to make each of the descriptions and the instructions. Each of the crafts are beautifully crafted and none of them looked like they were put together just to get a buck and some change. You'll get an introduction on how the author got into doing what she does and it gets an understanding as to why this was made. If you're an artist like myself you can get some sort of appreciation from that and have another layer as to the reason to enjoy the book.

I had always been meaning to get back into crafts, but I had convinced myself that it would take too much time and wouldn't be fun. This book completely changed my mind right away. Susan Hollister explains how to do hundreds of amazing crafts simply. There are even things she talks about that I never even thought about making crafts out of, like duct tape! If you're wanting to make beautiful art or things like soap or sunglasses cases, you need to buy this book right away.
