Synopsis

The parents of four boys, Harley and Abby McAllister have spent the last few years figuring out the best way to explore our national parks with restless kids in tow. Yellowstone National Park: Adventuring with Kids helps families plan their vacations in Yellowstone National Park, so that everyone has a memorable trip. With an easy to follow organization based on park geography, an emphasis on outdoor fun and education, and an approach that zeroes in on the very best options for families, this guidebook fully explores the Yellowstone. Family-friendly hiking trails for a range of age and skill levels; major natural sights, from geothermal pools and geysers in Yellowstone; the best wildlife viewing spots, including wildlife checklists for kids to mark off; fishing, biking, climbing, and rafting opportunities, and much more! The guides also promote the popular Junior Ranger program found throughout the National Parks and they provide basics on access, trip planning, and overnight options from campgrounds to lodges and cabins.

Wanting to keep their travel options open, Harley and Abby McAllister homeschool their children; Abby is a trained educator and strategic planner and discovers teaching and learning opportunities wherever they adventure. An avid outdoorsman, Harley works as a project manager and has lived in seven different states and on three different coasts, including four years with his family in the Dominican Republic where he taught at a nonprofit school. Their goal is to inspire other families to get outside more often, and have fun doing it. When not enjoying national parks, the McAllisters make their home in Spokane, Washington.
