Review Blurbs for BEST PLACES BEST PLACES Guidebooks: "Best Places covers must-see portions of the West Coast . . . with style and authority. In-the-know locals offer thorough info on restaurants, lodgings, and the sights." --National Geographic Tra

As a native from this area, I have to say the authors cornered the ins and outs of the Portland geographical region. I'm hyper-critical of "authorities" of cities I know about, but they have their act together. I also have the Seattle best places and think that is also right on as far as where to go, what is hip, etc. Buy both - I'd highly recommend both of them.

Perfect for planning itinerary for Portland visit, with maps, addresses, hours of operation, top 10 lists, neighborhood/ area highlights.

Funny book I got for a friends birthday she loved it.

Excellent reference book. We used it to plan our trip to Portland and all while we were there. I would recommend it to all!

Great information for people who already live in Portland. If you don't live there it is hard to follow. There are minimal pictures, maps, or graphics. I have a hard time orienting myself with words only.

BEST PLACES PORTLAND is a great book about the metro area of Portland, Oregon. It discusses the best nightlife, dining, sightseeing, shopping, and recreation, as well as mentioning little tidbits of trivia about certain areas when relevant. The only flaws, and they're minor ones, is that the radio station list is a bit out of date and only one shopping mall is mentioned. Nevertheless, this book is essential for anyone even remotely interested in the Pacific Northwest in particular and travel in general.

Many cities share the name Portland, but say it and the first thing that comes to mind is Oregon's favorite city. "Best Places Portland" is a guide to the sights and sounds of this major city in where to find high quality meals, places for the family, places for the couple, places for the single, and much more than that. "Best Places Portland" is an invaluable guide for anyone planning on traveling to this city and want to experience all it has to offer.
