R. C. Sproul (Drs., Free University of Amsterdam) is host of the national daily radio program Renewing Your Mind, president of Ligonier Ministries, and the author of more than fifty books. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Excellent! Came early, in mint condition, better than expected. AS with all Sproul writings, this one gives great pause to meditate on the wonder that is the love of God to us. Great read. Highly recommended.

I love the writings and teaching of Dr. Sproul. The way he teaches reaches me like no other. I have many of his books and this is a good one.

Once again R.C. Sproul has given his readers a glimpse into the glory of Christ. This book has not only helped me grow in my knowledge of my King, but it has helped me see Him in a completely different light; it has helped me fall in love with Him once more!

Wonderful book to accompany any bible study

Excellent.

The apostle Paul gloried in 'The Cross Of The Lord Jesus'. A couple of reasons why he gloried in the cross was because he identified with his savior being crucified ('I have been crucified with Christ...' Galatians 2:20). The cross also meant the death of the world to Paul in his affections and attitude toward it. -"Paul sees not only the crucifixion of Christ but also the crucifixion of himself and of the world." The crucifixion is more than just a horrific death but it is God's sacrificial lamb being forsaken by his loving heavenly Father, and rejected and forsaken by his fellow man. -"He must not only be executed by man, he must be forsaken by God." Sproul points out that Christ's death was both propitiatory (it appeased God's wrath) and expiatory (it covered men's sins). Here we see the glory of Christ revealed, it is a glorious revelation of his person, that only the God-man could accomplish. -"That such a double transaction can be achieved by one person in one event is a matter of eternal glory." When the Lord Jesus asked his disciples 'Who do men say that I am?' they fired back some say John the Baptist, then they named two of the most significant prophets of the old testament-Elijah and Jeremiah (or one of the prophets), but Jesus was 'The Prophet' that would come, the one which Moses spoke of. Something of his glory is seen in him being above any of the prophets (he is in fact the one of whom all the prophets spoke)-"...Jesus not only announced the Word of God but also was 'The Word Of God'." R.C. Sproul also considers 'The Glory Of God's Son' in the wilderness, in his triumphal entry, in the upper room, in the resurrection and several other times and events in our Lord's brief time on this earth. In much of his time here his glory was veiled, but there were times- "...when his glory burst forth and was displayed to those around him." Mr. Sproul is still writing helpful books. I'm sure in the view of some, perhaps many, some of his books are already considered classics-The Holiness of God, Chosen by God, Grace Unknown, Willing To Believe, Faith Alone and I would include 'The Glory Of Christ' as one as well.

RC uses sixteen times when the glory of Christ burst through. Rc takes us on a tour of Christ's life, using his unique wisdom and illustrations to help convey the majesty of our Lord. If you are either convinced that movies which depict Christ are unbiblical, or if you are burnout out of modern day versions of Christ, this book is a must. After reading, you may feel like Thomas who said, "my Lord, and My God!"

One can't help but to fall on our knees in worship to Christ after reading this book. Sproul, in his simple yet clear writing style, opens the life of Christ to us by commenting on each phase of Jesus' life. What I really loved was the truth that we are not saved just by the death of Christ but by the perfect sinless life of Christ. What a great reminder of our precious Lord!
